FROM OUR MINISTERS

E.T., Phone Home

Harvard astronomer Avi Loeb has become the face of the search for extraterrestrial life. He has been called "the world's leading alien hunter." He's rather outspoken and obnoxious about it, insisting that life is out there...despite having, well, scant evidence.

O.K. No evidence.

When pressed for proof, he says, "Two-thirds of the American public believes there is extraterrestrial life, more than the 56% that believe in the God of the Bible."

Really? A couple of things. First, how does this qualify as scientific evidence? Second, so what?

In 1692 most of the colony of Massachusetts believed there were witches in Salem.

As Carl Sagan noted, "Extraordinary claims require extraordinary evidence."

E.T. actually phoning home might be a start.

As for evidence of God's existence?

Try looking around (Psalm 19:1).

—Chuck Monan

SERVING

Arkansas Foodbank - December

Christmas is right around the corner! Your upcoming grocery list likely includes items like potatoes, stuffing, green beans, and delicious desserts. But have you remembered the most important item to check off? Arkansans dealing with food insecurity.

Many of these families, 1 in 6, will be facing tough choices this holiday season...like cutting back on meals to ease the strain caused by high living costs - or skipping a Christmas dinner with all the trimmings. Spending any money takes money from something else.

Christmas should truly be for everyone! Let Pinnacle be the example of a sharing spirit during this season! Please bring your favorite canned items and let's fill the barrel!
